NOW COMES BEFORE Me, Notary Public, John Fitzgerald, a person of the age of majority who does under oath depose and say:

That he served in the United States Navy from 1967 until 1970.

That in 1968-1969 he served aboard a self propelled water barge, YW 101, which was assigned to Da Nang, Republic of Vietnam. The barge held between 100,000 and 200,000 gallons of water. The barge on loaded water from an 8 inch connection. The source of that water was an open reservoir at Monkey Mountain, located south of Da Nang.

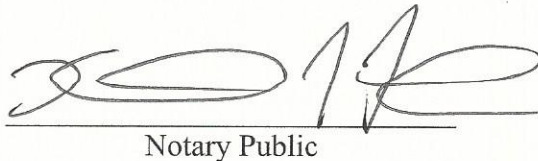

Affiant recalls providing potable water to tugs, fuel barges and ships at anchor.

Records were kept by all water barges, in a composition styled record book ,with dates, ship names, and number of gallons of water provided. Affiant does not know the whereabouts of the record books or even whether they are still in existence.
